WHAT'S NEW IN THE 4EQUALITY PROJECT?

The 4equality project continues to grow! We are happy to share the latest developments, activities and upcoming events planned for the next stage.

The project website has been updated with new, engaging articles in the Blog section, providing insight into recent project activities and key topics on equality and inclusion in STEM. Furthermore, other dissemination materials have been added there, including a press release, newsletter and leaflet.

The project has reached an important milestone: our e-learning modules and methodology have been finalized. The 4equality team is now focused on creating content for e-mentor and configuring a dedicated e-learning platform!

4TH ONLINE PROJECT MANAGEMENT MEETING

In February, 4equality partners met online to discuss key developments, including progress on the virtual e-mentor and preparations for the toolkit for youth workers. Partners also reviewed promotional activities. The meeting allowed the team to define clear next steps and strengthen cooperation to achieve upcoming project goals.

UPCOMING WORKSHOPS IN POLAND

During the workshops, to be held on April 1-2 2025 in Rzeszów, Poland, participants will have the opportunity to learn about the progress of the virtual e-mentor and the innovative visualization tools developed as part of the project. Training modules tailored specifically for youth workers and young women interested in STEM and business will also be presented.

In addition, an up-to-date mockup of the e-learning platform will be demonstrated, and quality assurance methods will be reviewed to effectively prepare for the upcoming pilot testing and final implementation.

Stay tuned for more updates as we continue to progress toward the project goals!
